

Rights and Responsibilities

At Pathways to Leadership we believe that every person should be treated the same.

Every person has the right to be treated well.

Every person has the right to live without fear and to feel safe.

You have the same rights as every other person in our person in our community if you are:

- Living with disability
- A woman
- A child
- An indigenous Australian
- An elderly person

You have the same rights as every other person in our community if you have different:

- Language, customs and clothing
- Cultural, religious and spiritual beliefs
- Skin colour

You have the right to ask for supports to help you communicate, play, work and live like other people in the community.

Things like:

- joining a club
- playing sports
- getting a job
- going to school, or other place of learning
- joining in cultural or religious events
- getting married

When you ask us to support you, we will do our best.

Pathways staff will respect your choices and the decisions that you make. We will work in partnership with you.
